Specific Updates

Census - Montana's self-response, based on the U.S. Census map (<https://2020census.gov/en/response-rates.html>), shows 45.5% responding here compared to 53.7% nationally (as of April 29, 2020).

Unemployment Filings - Montana's Department of Labor and Industry recorded the following in the first three weeks of April as well as an unemployment rate for March of 4.4%, which does not include the period of most layoffs into April.

	Week ending April 18	Week ending April 11	Week ending April 4
Initial unemployment filings	13,668	17,332	26,457
Continued claim filings	66,175	60,853	more than 50,000
The state is accepting filings for those not routinely eligible for unemployment insurance, including the self-employed, independent contractors, and some with COVID-19 specific reasons for not being able to work. The application portal is https://mtpua.mt.gov/ PUA stands for Pandemic Unemployment Assistance. Those eligible for this form of unemployment insurance will get the additional $600 a week from the federal government that is being made available to those typically eligible for unemployment insurance. The Bureau of Business and Economic Research estimated COVID-19 impacts on unemployment by industry sectors (see chart ) and reported in late April a 10% unemployment rate for Montana.

Livestock and Dairy - The Board of Milk Control issued an emergency rule to address concerns about milk surpluses. With the temporary rule, any milk that is dumped will be recorded as part of a pool to avoid any particular producer being put at a disadvantage in a situation where reduced routine demand from schools and stores has led to surpluses. In response to questions about the status of livestock markets and processing facilities, Mr. Honeycutt provided the following information on April 16:

- All protein markets including beef had already taken a cash hit from lost demand because of the slowdown.
- The issue is worsened by having processors shut down because of COVID clusters, we will probably notice it on the store shelves in the coming weeks.

The entire supply chain gets backed up. If there is nowhere for fat cattle to go to get processed, then there is no room in the feed lot for new placements, then cattle and calves are not moving off the ranches, and so on. Beef is an industry that can wait a bit although it means whoever is holding the supply now has increased operational costs waiting for a market to open up. For pork and poultry which are most aligned to a just-in-time supply chain, and there is no way or value to hold on to the animals waiting for the processor to begin moving again, many of these animals may end up being euthanized. Hogs and poultry are already being euthanized because there is nowhere to go to get them processed in certain parts of the country.
